— Time Pressure Index & Performance

The "Time Pressure Index" is a calculated value indicating how your pressure increases or decreases based on the remaining time and number of questions (when first answering questions). If the remaining time is relatively short given the number of remaining items, you would likely feel more "time pressure." If the Time Pressure is close to or below zero, it means you have paced yourself ideally. Pay attention to whether or not the time pressure seems to affect your performance. Explain This Chart
